

MODULE 1 · LESSON 1

Own the Outcome

Think beyond the task.

Don't automatically work beyond the task.

KEEP THIS GUIDE FOR CLIENT WORK

TASK

OUTCOME

RESPONSIBILITY

DON'T ASSUME

A practical reference for turning client instructions into useful, appropriate action.

THE FIRST SHIFT

Task vs Outcome

TASK

What you were asked to do.

OUTCOME

The useful result the client needs.

CLIENT REQUEST

“Find five coworking spaces near our hotel.”

TASK Find five coworking spaces.

OUTCOME Help me find somewhere suitable to work.

Useful work asks both questions:

Did I complete the task? • Did I help the intended result?

PROTECT THE BOUNDARY

Responsibility $\neq$ Authority

You can be responsible for noticing something without having authority to change it.

PROPOSAL

₱15,000 vs ₱18,000

NOTICE ✓

DON'T GUESS

Your authority depends on the context:

ROLE

AGREED SCOPE

PREVIOUS INSTRUCTIONS

CONSEQUENCE OF BEING WRONG

Own the outcome. Respect the boundary.

Noticing a problem does not automatically give you authority to change it.

QUICK REFERENCE

Four Questions Before You Act

TASK

What did the client actually ask me to do?

OUTCOME

What useful result are they probably trying to get?

RESPONSIBILITY

What should I reasonably notice, think about or take care of?

DON'T ASSUME

What important decision or missing information would be risky for me to decide myself?

Think beyond the task. Don't automatically work beyond the task.

JUDGMENT IN PRACTICE

Appropriate action, not maximum action.

APPROVED POSTS

Client: “Upload these 3 approved posts.”

Personal preference?      Leave it.

Broken link?                Flag it.

PROPOSAL

Obvious typo

Correct where appropriate.

Conflicting prices

Confirm rather than guess.

USEFUL DISTINCTION

NOTICE

Spot what could affect the result.

THINK

Decide what matters in context.

RESPOND

Take only the action you reasonably own.

Ownership means reducing unnecessary management—not necessary communication.

FAST REFERENCE

Before You Act

- ☐ Am I helping the actual outcome?
- ☐ Am I making a reasonable decision - or guessing?
- ☐ Is this within my role, scope and authority?
- ☐ Is clarification genuinely needed?
- ☐ Am I adding useful value - or simply adding more work?

WHEN IN DOUBT

Pause before an assumption becomes a client problem.

Think beyond the task.

Don't automatically work beyond the task.
